

Press Release

RSM announces lineup for COSMIC LOVE, a new comic collection inspired by the music of Florence + the Machine

Baltimore, MD, February 7, 2018: Indie comic publisher Red Stylo Media has announced the creative lineup for a new comic fanthology inspired by the music of British rock's Florence + the Machine. COSMIC LOVE is a curated selection of original short form comics and illustrations inspired by over a decade of music by the phenom performer Florence Welch of Florence + the Machine. The themed collection was first proposed by featured cover artist Rachel Perciphone.

The collection is edited by Jennie Wood (Flutter, The 27 Club). On why she joined the project, the award-winning comics writer and editor said: "When Red Stylo asked me to edit this anthology, saying yes was a no-brainer for two reasons. One, I'm a huge fan of Florence + the Machine. Their songs are so visual. The possibilities for writers, artists, stories would be endless. Second, it was another opportunity, and a new way to work with Enrica and the Red Stylo team."

Matching the format of a previous music-inspired title, Baroque Pop, A Comic Anthology inspired by the music of Lana Del Rey, the COSMIC LOVE fanthology will be printed at 7x7 inches to physically resemble a 45 RPM record cover. The project will be published under Red Stylo Media's group publishing imprint, Red Stylo Press.

COSMIC LOVE will feature seven short comics and eight portraits by:

- Rachel Perciphone
- Jamie Fay
- Enrica Jang
- Vita Ayala & Kat Taylor
- Seth Greenwood & Angela Zhang
- Jennie Wood & Josh Siegel
- Zack Rocklin-Waltch & Tessa Beatrice
- Mario Candelaria & Katarzyna Witersheim

The book is slated for digital and print release in Fall of 2018. In addition to Cosmic Love and Baroque Pop, other rock-themed titles include: Angel With a Bullet, inspired by Tom Waits; KILLER QUEEN, comics inspired by the discography of Queen; and The 27 Club, comics inspired by Kurt Cobain, Amy Winehouse, Jimi Hendrix and other music artists who died age twenty-seven. The 27 Club was co-published with Action Lab Comics and was nominated for a Harvey Award for Best Anthology in 2016.

For interviews and author statements please contact:
Enrica Jang, editor-in-chief at Red Stylo Media 614-209-0455, info@redstylo.com